Coastal Birds Newsletter, Autumn 2026

Spoonbill colony

The spoonbill colony of the Brena marshes raised 146 chicks this year, a record since the first count in 2009.[1] The colony now nests on the two islets created in 2021.

[1] Counts made from the observation tower by the volunteers of the reserve.

Ringing campaign

From August to October, 2,318 birds of 41 species were ringed at the Cape Lumo station. The most ringed species was the sedge warbler, with 612 birds.[2]

[2] One sedge warbler ringed at Cape Lumo was caught again in Senegal 19 days later.

Volunteer days

Volunteers meet on the first Saturday of each month to clear the reed beds. Boots and gloves are lent by the reserve; bring a packed lunch.

- meeting point: the car park of the Brena visitor centre
- start: 9.00, end: 15.30
- registration: by e-mail one week before

Agenda

The annual seabird count will take place on 15 November. The talk on migratory routes by Dr. Inès Varga is moved to 6 December because of the renovation of the conference room.
